

The Long and Short of it – Weekly Update

Week in review:

Stock prices moved noticeably higher early last week with all 3 major stock indexes gaining north of 1%. The increase came on the back of dovish comments from Fed officials, opining higher longer-term rates would likely make unnecessary additional rate increases. 10-year Treasury rates, reacting to these comments, fell over 25bps through Wednesday. A slightly better-than-expected PPI release (Wednesday), increasing hopes of cooling inflation added to the upward momentum. Sentiment changed, however, following a lukewarm CPI release Thursday, re-igniting higher-rates-for-longer concerns, pushing the 10-year Treasury rate almost 15bps higher and pressuring stock prices lower. That pressure continued through Friday with risk-off sentiment dominating markets on growing concerns surrounding Israel's counteroffensive against Hamas terror attacks. The Nasdaq Composite and S&P 500 Indexes moved markedly lower while haven asset prices moved sharply higher. For the week, the S&P 500 Index increased 0.4% to 4,327.28, the Nasdaq Composite Index fell 0.2% to 13,407.23, the Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 0.8% to 33,670.29 the 10-year U.S. Treasury rate fell 19bps to 4.62% and the U.S. dollar (as measured by the ICE U.S. Dollar index – DXY) strengthened 0.6%.

European stock markets behaved similarly to U.S. markets but with better performance. Both the STOXX 600 and FTSE 100 Indexes moved markedly higher through Tuesday (initially shrugging off the volatile situation in the Mid-East), benefiting from dovish ECB and Fed officials' comments, lower bond yields and, for the FTSE 100 Index, a weaker British pound. Noticeably lower UK grocery inflation and slowing consumer spending supported the FTSE 100 Index as well. Thursday's lukewarm U.S. CPI release seemed to have little effect on stock markets though appeared to move both longer-term German and British yields noticeably higher. As with U.S. markets, risk off sentiment prevailed Friday, precipitated over concerns regarding possible escalation and contagion of the Israel-Hamas war, pushing stock prices and the euro and the British pound lower while sharply increasing haven asset prices. For the week, the FTSE 100 Index increased 1.4% to 7,599.60, the STOXX 600 Index rose 1.0% to 449.18, the 10-year Gilt rate fell 19bps to 4.30%, the 10-year Bund rate dropped 16bps to 2.73%, the British pound and the euro weakened 0.8% and 0.7%, respectively, both versus the U.S. dollar.

This document is not intended for distribution to any other country where such distribution or use would be contrary to local law or regulation. Specifically, this document is not intended for general distribution in the United States or Canada.

Investing in financial markets involves a substantial degree of risk. Nothing described herein is intended to imply that an investment is “safe”, “conservative”, “risk free” or “risk averse”. This document does not consider the specific investment objective, financial situation or particular needs of any potential investor and is intended only for those investors who are capable of understanding the risk of loss of all or a substantial part of their monies. Potential investors in the UK are reminded that they will not benefit from the UK investors compensation scheme. No recommendation is made positive or otherwise, regarding individual securities or investments mentioned herein. Any summary list of risk factors does not purport to be a complete enumeration or explanation of the risks involved in an investment in short and leveraged products. Prospective investors must consult with their own legal, tax and financial advisers before deciding to invest.

Risk Factors

An investment in a GraniteShares short and leveraged exchange traded product (“ETP”) may not be suitable for all investors. They are intended for investors who wish to take a very short-term view on the underlying asset and are not intended as buy and hold investments.

Performance and capital loss: Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. The value of an investment may go down as well as up and can result in losses, up to and including a total loss of the amount initially invested.

Generic risks: Investments in ETPs involve numerous risks including, among others, company risks, general market risks, credit risks, foreign exchange risks, interest rate risks, geopolitical risks and liquidity risks.

Specific product risks: The Index is constructed to track the performance of an increased (leveraged) and/or short exposure to the underlying asset. A fall (or rise where short and leveraged exposure) in value of the underlying asset can result in a greater reduction in the level of the Index. The Index is designed to do this on a daily basis only which should not be equated with seeking a leveraged position for periods longer than a day. The ETP’s performance over periods longer than one day will not be correlated or symmetrical with the returns of the underlying asset. Potential investors should refer to the section entitled “Risk Factors” and “Economic Overview of the ETP Securities” in the Prospectus relating to the GraniteShares ETPs for further details of these and other risks associated with an investment in short and leveraged ETPs and consult their financial advisers as needed.

Counterparty risk: An investment in a GraniteShares short and leveraged ETP involves counterparty risk. GraniteShares Financial plc has entered into a Swap Agreement with a counterparty, Natixis, that is backed with collateral. Failure of the counterparty to make payments may result in an investment in an ETP suffering a loss.
