What is the product?

Type	Collateralised Exchange Traded Product ("ETP") Securities
Objectives	GraniteShares YieldBOOST Nvidia ETP (the "Product") seeks to replicate, on a total return basis, the performance of the Solactive Option Income NVIDIA Index (the "Underlying Index"), less the fees of the Product and subject to adjustments for market disruption or other extraordinary events. The Underlying Index reflects a systematic strategy that aims to generate monthly income by selling put options on the shares of NVIDIA Corp (NASDAQ: NVDA, the "Underlying Asset"). Each week, the Underlying Index sells put options with a strike price around 5% below the price of the Underlying Asset and buys put options with a strike price around 10% below that price, both on a notional amount equal to twice the value of the Underlying Index. The premium received for the options sold, net of the cost of the options bought (the "Net Premium"), is the source of the Product's income. The Net Premium is higher when the Underlying Asset is expected to be more volatile, that is, when large falls in its price are considered more likely. The Product does not benefit from rises in the price of the Underlying Asset: the gain of the Underlying Index is limited to the Net Premium plus interest accrued on its cash component. The Product aims to pay monthly distributions funded by the Net Premium received. Distributions are not guaranteed and their amount will vary from month to month, depending on market conditions. Each distribution reduces the value of the Product by the amount distributed, so distributions are part of, not in addition to, the return of the Product, and may be paid even when its value has fallen. The Product is an exchange traded product (ETP). You may trade this Product on the stock exchanges on which it is listed at your own discretion. You may lose the full value of your initial investment, but you will not lose more than your initial investment. The Product is backed by a swap with Natixis (the "Swap Provider"). The payment obligations of the Swap Provider to GraniteShares Financial plc are protected by collateral held in a segregated account at an independent custodian, The Bank of New York Mellon SA/NV.

What are the risks and what could I get in return?

The risk indicator assumes you hold the product for 1 day. The actual risk can vary significantly if you hold the product for a longer timeframe and you may get back less. You may not be able to sell your product easily, or may have to sell at a price that significantly impacts on how much you get back.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the market or because we are not able to pay you.

We have classified this product as 4 out of 7, which is the highest risk class.

This rates the potential losses from future performance at a very high level, and poor market conditions are very likely to impact the performance. This product does not include any protection from future market performance, so you could lose some or all of your investment. If we are not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose your entire investment.

Be aware of currency risk. If you receive payments in a currency different to that of your home jurisdiction, the final return you will get will depend on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above.

Performance Scenarios

The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself but may not include all the costs that you pay to your advisor or distributor or broker. The figures do not take into account your personal tax situation, which may affect how much you get back.

This table shows the money you could get back over the recommended holding period, under different scenarios, assuming that you invest $10000.

Investment $10000

What you get will vary depending on how the market performs and how long you keep the investment. The stress scenario shows what you might get back in extreme market circumstances, and it does not take into account the situation where we are not able to pay you.

What happens if GraniteShares Financial plc is unable to pay out?

The product is not protected by the Irish Deposit Guarantee Scheme or any other investor compensation or guarantee scheme. This means that if GraniteShares Financial plc is unable to pay out, you may lose all of your investment. Since the ability of GraniteShares Financial plc to pay out depends on receiving amounts due under the product from the Swap Provider, the Swap Provider provides assets daily to a segregated account as collateral for such obligations with a value equal to or in excess of the value of the daily price of the product. If the Swap Provider is unable to pay GraniteShares Financial plc, its ability to pay out will be limited to the amounts realised from such collateral, as further explained in the Prospectus.
